Raw materials: future contexts

Raw materials: future contexts Over the last few years, the price dynamics for raw materials, especially for metals, have repeatedly reached historical records thus provoking growing difficulties for the Italian and European industries. One of the main reasons is the lack in offer, which is unable to meet a fast growing global demand, mainly in the Asian economies. Within this picture a good initiative is represented by the 9th IMW (Investigating raw Materials World wide), organized by a group of young entrepreneurs of the Brescia's Industrial Association and by the Lombard Italian Manufacturers' Association, and schedule for Friday 13th and Saturday 14th April at the Villa Fenaroli Palace Hotel in Rezzato, Brescia. The two-day meeting aims at identifying the reasons and factors generating the current and emerging economic contexts in order to promote the full understanding of the
