International Environment Festival

The International Environment Festival closed yesterday. This event is the first initiative sponsored by the Municipality and the Province of Milan and the Region Lombardy in the wake of the Expo 2015, and for one week it promoted the scientific and political meditation on the most pressing challenges concerning climate, environment, mobility, energy and building for a widespread and aware sensitivity on an individual and public level. The improvement of the environmental conditions actually is one the most important long-term goals for the development and sustainability of our Country and the entire world. The 2015 Expo, dedicated to 'Feed the Planet - Energy for life' aims at achieving these targets. Starting from June 5th, symbolic date as it is the World Environment Day, Milan turned into a large stage offering a rich programme of meetings where scientific, cultural and popular events
